

Every Kid in Our Communities: Priorities to Allocation

My questions/comments

1. Please note that specific dates, especially those related to Lead Table, are critical. Though the top chart may show for example something being done in September if it is something that the Lead is approving in September and which requires a process then that process will happen in August or earlier and approval given first Wednesday of September. I put "1st Wed" in next month to show this.
2. Evaluation; it was mentioned today but not built into the flow of our discussion Here it is included as a component with recommendation that twice a year workgroups and grant recipients submit some sort of evaluative report...unsure in context of rest of processes when this would best happen...make best guess with question marks.
3. In many projects both of these two charts would be included in a single Gantt Chart. Breaking them apart in this way may be wise since the first is sort of the skeleton of activity and the second adds the meat. Some might prefer to see this as one chart...which is not that difficult to do. ...but I think most of our members would be more comfortable with the two separate charts.
4. this is not intended to be the final summary of what we came up with today but rather my best attempt to capture the consensus. I am sending it only to those present at the session since without that context it probably won't make sense. I think we can use absent members to give this a final 'outside' look when you have given your edits.
5. this process will need to be expedited in this current year by using the September priority setting meeting to inform action and budget for year ending March 31, 2012 as well as year ending March 31, 2013.

Overview
